

ACUB Fact Sheet

Camp San Luis Obispo

Background

Camp San Luis Obispo (CSLO) provides military support for civil authority, counter drug, air assault, small arms training, basic rifle marksmanship, orienteering, combat medic, noncommissioned officer leadership training, officer candidate school, counter-terrorism training, common task training, MOSQ schools, non-prior-service training, and pre-command courses. CSLO tenants include California Air National Guard units as well as state and civilian organizations.

San Luis Obispo County has experienced tremendous growth in its population. In the area immediately surrounding CSLO, the population has remained relatively stable, but with recent political pressures to dramatically increase the county's housing availability, future encroachment is inevitable. CSLO's training mission is currently compatible with the predominant neighboring land use, although there is potential for some impacts associated with training, including noise and suspended particulate matter from vehicle activity and prescribed burning.

Objective

The ACUB Team will address the growing concern that encroachment poses to the future viability of CSLO as a military training site by creating a one-mile buffer through conservation easements on its east, south and northwestern boundaries. In addition, the Team will work to conserve up to 1,500 acres of land from 72 separate tracts of land, within three miles of CSLO's boundary.
